Evangelical Visitor - April 10, 1976 Supplement on Missions

J.N. Hostetter
October 11, 1898

"The first morning of school, twelve bright-looking boys and girls entered the tent and sat down on the floor, curious to know what school was like. It was a momentous time. It was the beginning of a work the result of which human eye could not foresee... The special burden of the prayer that morning was that, as these dear souls learned to read the Word, the Light might enter their hearts and they yield themselves to God."

—H. Frances Davidson

"Teaching them to observe all things" is an indispensable part of the Great Commission, a key in helping new converts become mature disciples. In the broadest sense of the word, every missionary and Christian Service worker is a teacher, often in a one-to-one setting, in Christian education, or in a leadership training program.

More specifically, however, teaching is a specialized profession, distinguishable from other specialized ministries such as medical missions or agricultural development.

We list in this issue of the DIRECTORY those persons who have been classroom instructors under Brethren in Christ Missions (both in North America and overseas). It is recognized that much teaching and discipling has been done by other missionaries and service workers. This aspect of service and witness will be treated in a later issue.
